

TECHNICAL LARGE ANIMAL EMERGENCY RESCUE

***OPERATIONS LEVEL COURSE***

SEPTEMBER 17-19, 2010

HOPE MILLS / PARKTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Did you participate in a TLAER Awareness Course and want to learn more and advance your training? Did you miss the recent Awareness Course and want another opportunity to learn about large animal technical rescue and become certified?...

Well, here's your chance!!

$350.00 Operations Certification (Hands-On Participant) ***LIMITED AVAILABILITY!*****

$150.00 Awareness Certification (Auditor - Observation Only)

The Operations Level Certification is recommended for those who are involved with agencies that will be responding to large animal incidents (emergency services, search and rescue, law enforcement, animal control, veterinarians, etc.) and those who will actively participate in the rescue effort. A TLAER Awareness Level Certification or comparable rescue training/certification is required for Operations Level course registration. Contact the TLAER Course Coordinator for availability of participant positions and approval of pre-requisite certifications/training prior to submitting registration form and fee.

The Awareness Level Certification is recommended for those who may encounter or be involved, either as a first responder or a mutual aid resource, in a large animal incident in any capacity (owner, victim, bystander, rescue organization, etc.). There are no mandatory pre-requisites for this level of training. Awareness Level Certification is a pre-requisite for future Operations Level Course attendance.

REGISTRATION DEADLINE ----- AUGUST 1, 2010

If you are interested in attending this course, want to request a registration form, or have any questions...
